

An abstract digital background featuring a complex network of glowing red and blue lines and dots, resembling a circuit board or data flow. The lines are primarily red and form a grid-like pattern, while the dots are in shades of blue and green, scattered throughout the red lines. The overall effect is a sense of high-tech connectivity and data processing.

Introduction

The digital revolution is in full swing. Global corporations, small and medium-sized enterprises and start-ups are all looking for the best possible solution for maintaining or even enhancing their position in a volatile competitive environment. Existing business models are being called into question and new innovative forms of cooperation are emerging. This revolution is being accelerated by numerous technological developments, including cloud computing, digital platforms, big data and artificial intelligence, the Internet of Things (IoT) and blockchain technology.

This increased complexity, coupled with a greater level of regulation and high requirements for compliance and risk management, also poses new challenges for corporate legal departments. Cost-cutting programmes and staff reductions are an additional concern for legal departments.

They are required to provide legal support for the process of change initiated in their company as well as proactively shape their own transformation. In order to do this, they must review the department's service portfolio in its entirety and adjust it as necessary. They must also create new workflows and processes, implement innovative technological solutions or initiate new forms of cooperation with partners.

In fulfilling the role of the company's strategic business partner, it is necessary first and foremost to process day-to-day business efficiently in order to create scope for strategic topics.

Luther.Digital provides support through all phases of the legal department's upcoming transformation - from strategic dialogue via process and organisational design through to the employment of legal tech solutions in operational work or the design of new forms of cooperation with external partners.

Over the following pages, we offer an overview of our portfolio of solutions designed to shape the legal department of the future.

Legal Operations

Further development into a “Digital Legal Department” is key to creating an efficient and risk-conscious organisational design for the business model of the future.

The alignment of corporate and departmental strategy is often the starting point of an analysis: What are the strategic levers for the legal department and how is its service portfolio integrated into the business model of the company as a whole?

Well-developed and implemented processes form the basis of effective high-quality services provided by the department. Our experts analyse the current process landscape, design new workflows and identify efficiency potential to be unlocked through employment of modern legal tech solutions.

We define key performance indicators (KPI) and ensure that these indicators can also be captured and presented transparently. In addition to strategy, processes and systems, organisation is the fourth crucial building block when it comes to legal operations.

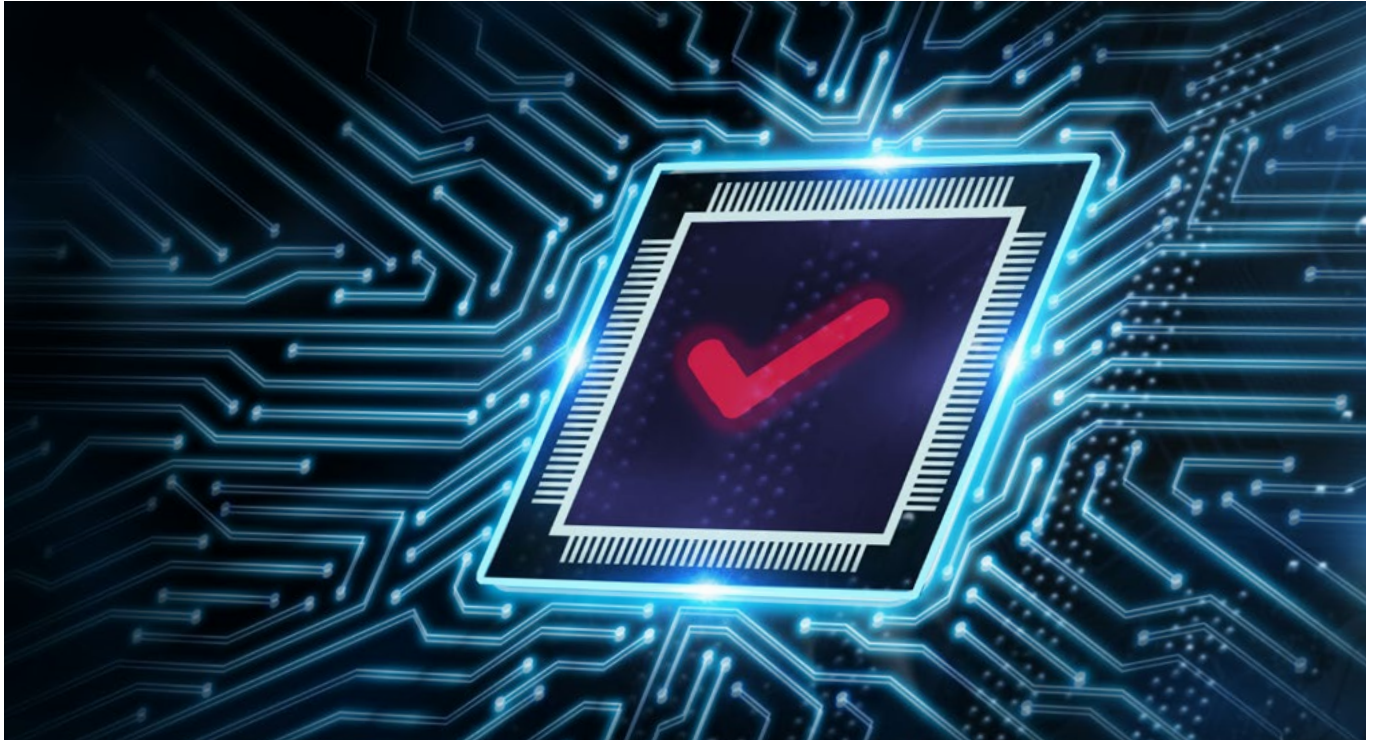

Together with you, we develop sustainable organisational structures and workflows and, by doing so, guarantee the service performance of the department within the framework of the company’s strategic challenges.

Our services

- Alignment of the department’s strategy with the corporate strategy. Strategic measures are supplemented where necessary
- Recording of workflows and transparent presentation in a standardised process architecture. The basis for this is our legal department process framework
- Analysis of the processes for efficiency potential and re-design of workflows where necessary
- Development of efficiency potential through employment of modern IT or legal tech tools
- KPI framework design and ensuring
- KPI capture and presentation
- Adaptation of organisational structures and workflows and support throughout the transformation process.

Legal Tech

By employing digital solutions (legal tech), processes and workflows can be made faster, more efficient and more cost-effective in many areas. To achieve a sustainable leverage effect through the employment of technology, suitable workflows or processes must be evaluated and improved as a first step. Once the issues have been identified, the next step is to develop scope for the solution and determine the features of the tools to be employed. Only then is the final design of the software or the legal tech solution created through an iterative process starting with a prototype. This may involve internal processes within the legal department or processes that facilitate cooperation with internal departments and external partners, e.g. collaboration platforms, document automation as well as decision automation.

Our experts combine legal expertise, methods and specialist knowledge of tech tools to provide a sustainable and integrated solution.

Our services

- Process analysis and optimisation
- Development of scenarios for the implementation of IT or legal tech solutions, determination of functional scope
- Selection of suitable solutions or partners
- Prototype development and iterative refinement to create the final solution
- Legal support for the employment of new legal tech tools in the department or company
- Development of customised applications by our legal engineers.

Legal Project Management

Given the increased demands placed on the legal department, efficiency improvements in legal project work are as important as the application of agile methods in project execution. Modern project management methods need to be developed for legal subject areas, adapted in line with company-specific requirements and anchored in the legal department.

With Luther.Legal Project Management, we offer a holistic approach that combines modern project management methods with legal requirements. We embed international project management standards and company-specific characteristics in a methodologically sound, efficient design framework and ensure the successful handling of legal projects within the company. By doing so, we integrate the three core elements of business requirements, technology and methodological expertise into one holistic solution.

Our services

- PM quick check: Analysis of the current PM structure & standards in the company (organisation, processes, communication and reporting)
- Analysis and structuring of the current project portfolio
- Development of a company-specific PM framework (organisation, processes, reporting, communication)
- Recommendation or selection of possible IT solutions for efficient project management (tools and platforms)
- Training of the organisation on PM issues
- Support in ongoing critical projects and coaching of the project organisation

Managed Legal Services

Similar legal service processes and business transactions often push a legal department to its limits in terms of capacity. It is not uncommon for these processes to be carried out in the organisation without the application of standards or technical support - this results in inefficiencies and problems with quality. By introducing standard processes and sensible use of supporting programs and tools, it is possible to unlock a wide spectrum of potential. At the same time, once reorganisation is complete, it is often possible to (temporarily) outsource these processes to external partners and still ensure the results are integrated into the internal workflow landscape. We call this "Managed Legal Services".

In special cases, such as mass disputes, legal issues often recede into the background, while control of the process, management of deadlines as well as efficient creation and forwarding of documents come to the fore. This is where we support you as a full-service law firm with legal expertise as well as specialist knowledge of processes and methodology in the relevant legal field.

A selection of our services

- Support with or complete management of the implementation of award procedures
- Support with monitoring of legal changes
- Management of funding or assistance with approval for these funds
- Support with mass disputes
- Claims management in cases of insolvency
- Contract management
- Document automation
