Joint venture with U.S. Floodlight manufacturer: Ferrostaal relies on Luther

Essen – The industrial service company Ferrostaal Industrial Projects (Essen) and the floodlight manufacturer Musco Lighting (Oskaloosa/Iowa, USA) have founded Musco Ferrostaal GmbH. The joint venture will implement lighting systems for industrial plants and sports facilities in Europe, South America and Asia. Ferrostaal Industrial Projects has turned to Luther Rechtsanwaltsgesellschaft mbH for advice concerning the joint venture. DLA Piper accompanied Musco Lighting.

Musco Lighting is one of the world's leading providers of lighting solutions. The American company has been active in Europe for about 20 years. Through its joint venture with Ferrostaal, Musco Lighting will expand its activities here and benefit from the distribution network of the Ferrostaal Group. The place of business of the newly established Musco Ferrostaal GmbH is Bottrop.

About Musco Lighting

For over 35 years, Musco Lighting has been one of the world's leading providers of lighting solutions for sports facilities and large areas. The company has equipped the White House in Washington DC, the Wimbledon Centre Court in London and O2 World in Berlin, among others, with lighting systems.

Musco Lighting has offices in Australia, Canada, China, Cyprus, Ireland, South Korea, South Africa, the United Arab Emirates and the United Kingdom. With Musco Ferrostaal GmbH, it now offers contact persons in Germany.

About Ferrostaal Industrial Projects

Ferrostaal Industrial Projects GmbH realises gas, steam and diesel power plants. Depending on the project, the service spectrum varies and extends over the entire power plant and all of its related plant components or only over the plant peripherals. Accordingly, the company acts as a general contractor or consortium partner.

The company is part of the internationally active Ferrostaal AG – a global industrial service company with approximately 4,400 employees and companies in about 40 countries.
