Russian Desk

Russian Desk

Luther has long been supporting Russian, German and international clients in cross-border activities in the field of Eastern-European (primarily, German-Russian) legal relations. In cooperation with our local partner law firms in the CIS countries, we help our clients resolve complex legal issues promptly and professionally.

As our team comprises both lawyers of German descent and lawyers of Eastern-European origin, we are familiar with the specific economic, social and legal structures in these regions. We combine professional expertise with linguistic, cultural and legal knowledge and, in doing so, we also take into account the characteristic features which are particular to each mentality.

Our Russian Desk currently consists of eight lawyers licensed to practice law in Germany and two lawyers qualified to practice Russian law.

Our goal is to serve as a first point of contact for the operational implementation of business projects of Eastern-European/Russian and German companies in Russia, the former CIS countries and/or in Germany. Our China, Singapore and Myanmar offices and our Corporate Services in India, Malaysia and Indonesia additionally provide comprehensive advice in the Asian market. With our full-service approach, which also takes account of financial and tax matters, Luther provides advice on all aspects of business law in Germany and, in cooperation with local partners/colleagues, also covers any need for legal advice in the respective jurisdictions.

Our extensive experience includes:

- Advising Russian companies in Germany on the incorporation and administration of companies, on transactions and investments, in matters pertaining to employment, social, customs, commercial, corporate and tax law and in all areas of law which are of interest to a company in Germany;
- Advising German companies on how to enter the Russian market and on their continued economic activities in Russia;
- Advising German companies on their cross-border investments in Russia;
- Providing assistance with establishing and developing representative offices, joint ventures and Russian corporations (OOO, AO);
- Providing assistance with tax structuring, customs matters, etc.;
- Advising and supporting German and Russian companies when it comes to determining the scope of sanctions legislation and to making contractual arrangements within the limits defined by EU sanctions.

Luther and the members of the Russian Desk attend conferences, summits and events in order to keep current on new developments in Russia and other CIS countries. We also keep track of changes in German and Russian legislation and case law, which ensures that we are always up-to-date and best able to meet our clients' needs.

Recent consultation assignments successfully undertaken by us include:

- Advise of Russian VC investors within the framework of granting a convertible bond and – subsequently – when converting the bond, within the framework of the participation in a further participation series (Series E) as well as the purchase of further assets (target was in this case car 1 / “We buy your car”, investment volume: EUR 5 million in step 1; EUR 20 million in step 2).
- Advise of a Russian investor when granting different loans concerning a construction project in Berlin (draft and negotiation of different loan agreements and security treaties; investment volume: several millions).
- Comprehensive legal advise of MonArch-Group (Concern MonArch) within all activities in Germany. The advise focused on project developments in the area of living and retail business with different investment volume: (in the double and three digit million area).

- Advise of a German defence company during negotiations with Russian state-owned companies regarding the reversal of a purchase agreement which became invalid as a result of sanctions in the three digit million area.
- Advise of a German telecommunications company within the framework of arbitration proceedings before an arbitration court in Moscow (conclusion of a telecommunications contract with a Tajik telecommunications company).
- Advise of the Austrian “Immofinanzgruppe” concerning the sale of numerous property locations, inter alia in Russia.
- Various requests of German companies regarding specific questions relating to Russian law.

Luther and/or our staff are members of the German-Russian Forum, the Russian Arbitration Association, the German-Russian Law Association and the German-Ukrainian Law Association.

We provide all our advisory services optionally in German, English or Russian, or also bilingually (e.g., when drafting contracts).

Our Foreign Offices and International Desks

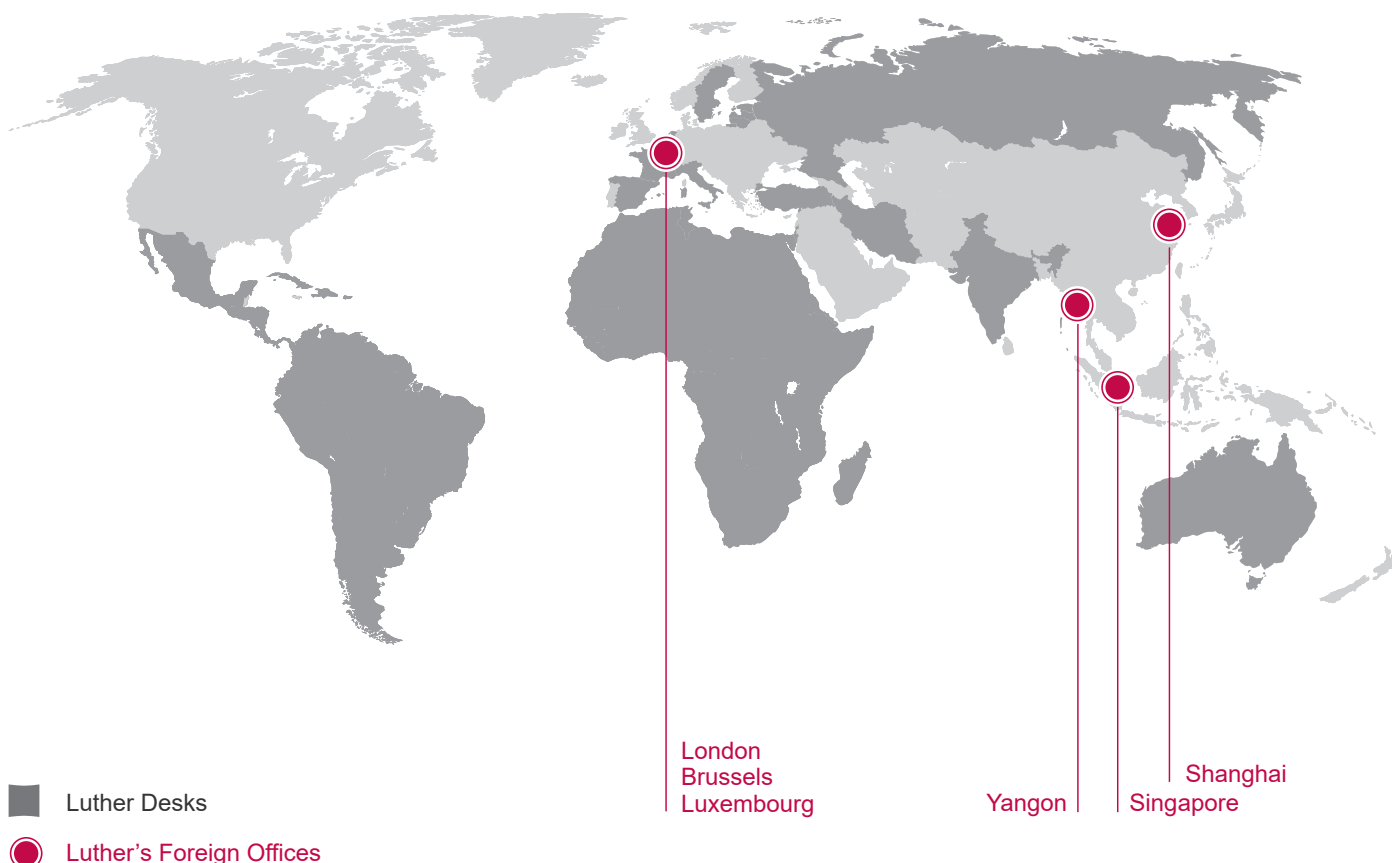

With the assistance of six foreign Luther offices, we provide cross-border advice and handle international projects in the most important European and Asian markets.

However, we also assist local clients in many other important industrialized countries and central international markets in all matters pertaining to German law, and we advise German investors who wish to do business in such countries.

For this purpose, Luther has a series of International Desks where professional expertise is combined with language skills and knowledge of the culture and the political and economic situation in the respective country.
